

BUILDING YOUR TEAM

Things have changed. Your organization, budget, and priorities may look very different. But it's time to rebuild your team, get your projects back on track, and find the right people to fill your skill gaps quickly. With another year of uncertainty ahead, employers are focused on flexible staffing and recruiting quality remote workers.

ACCESS TO EXPERTS

IT projects are more complex than ever. The technologies are complicated, integrations are challenging, and experienced experts are hard to find. Your projects will likely need a bench of experts. iShift has access to an extensive network of talented IT professionals immediately available for project work.

VETTING CANDIDATES

During the recruitment process, conducting technical interviews is the most time-consuming activity for an IT department. iShift streamlines this process by vetting each of the qualified applicants with our own IT experts. Our executive team will ensure that the candidates we recommend are the best match for your requirements.

SIMPLIFYING THE PROCESS

Receiving hundreds of "qualified" resumes from an employment agency is not that helpful. As seasoned IT professionals, our process simplifies technical recruiting. You'll choose the best cultural fit from a handful of highly skilled recommendations—reducing the time, effort, and cost of onboarding the experts you need.

SCALE ON DEMAND

Adding battle-tested architects, engineers, developers, project managers, or system administrators on demand is quick and easy with a contingent workforce. Scale your team for a new project or add a subject matter expert to fill a skills gap. The people placed within your organization are an extension of our passionate IT consulting culture and will be supported by our leadership team, employees, and partners.
